Sanitized Copy Approved for Release 2010/01/29: CIA-RDP80-00810A003901250002-9

25 YEAR RE-REVIEW

GRUINE.

		"老爷,还是我
	Ans. Area area		25X1
Kasarne through gato No	17.
At 7 s.m. on 24 Februar 2 bus trailers.	g: about 20 trucks, most of	which were radio trucks, and
	ove toward a westerly direct	ione	25X1
At 7:30 p.m. on 25 Febr	uary: about 30 trucks uns. The vehicles drove towa	rd an casterly direction.	25X1 25X1
	y: 3 T-34/85 tanks, which we	re presumably part of a larger
At 8 a.m.: About 20 tru	cks in a column and about 15	individual vehicles, driving	.* *
toward a westerly direc			25X1
Most of the trucks	were loaded with telephone	masts and boards.	7
At 8:30 p.m.: about 25 westerly direction.	trucks including 3 towing 1	22-mm morters drove toward a
At 5 n.m. on 27 February: about 20 trucks including at least lo large radio trucks and 1 truck with a large two-axle trailer with flat loading area mounting two large drums, one at the front and one at the rear, with a radio mast placed horizontally between the drums. The column drove toward an easterly direction.
At 7:15 p.m.: ten trucks	with telephone masta drave	toward an easterly direction.	25X1
	6 T-34/85 tanks, 2 trucks toward a westerly direction.	owing 57-mm AT guns and lo side-
At 9:30 p.m. on 3 Merch direction.	: 10 empty trucks	drove toward an egater	¹ y 25X1
A: 7 a.m. on & March: 3	jeeps and about 20 ompty tr		25X1
	drove toward a westerly	y direction.	25X1
		lm Pieck Bruecke toward Maldens- d Anger Kaserne (5254) respectiv
At 4 p.m.; 12 trucks in	cluding and 2 town	ng AT guns.	25X1
At 4:20 p.m.: 23 trucks	with troops.
At 5 n.m.: 83 trucks t	owing 3 AT gams. 6 other gum	s, and 2 mortars, 3 armored scout	. *
cars and 12 T-34/05 tan	cs.		25X1
At 6 p.m.: 50 trucks in	cluding some towing 15 guns.
At 6:30 p.m.: 20 trucks			è

SECRET,

3.

SECRET,

Comment. Probably, shipments of engineer equipment belong to the 36th Pon Bridge Regt of the GCFG in the Seeckt Kaserne. Comment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and units of the 195th Gds Mecz Div Sig Regt of the army and the 62d and 63d Gds Mech Regts of the division, conducted increased training in the terrain outside the posts from mid-February up to early March. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mech Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 March. To cannot yet be said whether these field exercises	ch 9 and 11 February, the Hindenburg Kaserne (5225) was not occupied to canacity. In the afternoon on 11 February, a bout 10 trucks engaged in practice driving. Four or five an engaged in practice driving. In the five five five five five five five fiv
On 9 and 11 February, the Hindenburg Kaserne (5235) was not occupied to capacity. In the afternoon on 11 February, about 10 trucks engaged in practice driving. Four or five antennas were seen in the east section of the installation. On 11 and 16 February, the Flak Kaserne (5232) was occupied to capacity. In the afternoon on 16 February, ambulance left the installation through gate No 36 and headed toward the town. On 16, 19, 21, 22 and 23 February, the Hackrichton Kaserne was occupied to capacity. On 16, 21, 23 and 23 February, the Seacht Kaserne (5287) was heavily occupied. On 28 February, 10 new three-sake trucks were parked at the installation. On 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne (5233) was very lightly occupied and, on 5 March, it was occupied to capacity. March, it was occupied to capacity. In the Herrenkrug Kaserne was fully lighted at 6 p.m., while the troops moved in not until 6:45 p.m. Comment. Probably, shipments of engineer equipment belong to the 36th Pon Bridge Regt of the GFG in the Seockt Kaserne. Comment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and units of the 195th Gds Meca Div head of the posts from ind-February up to early March. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for combat firting practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mach Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 3 and 9 Karch.	on 9 and 11 February, the Hindenburg Kaserne (5285) was not occupied to capacity. In the afternoon on 11 February, a bout 10 trucks engaged in practice driving. Four or five antenmas were seen in the east section of the installation. On 11 and 16 February, the Flak Kaserne (5282) was occupied to capacity. In the afternoon on 16 February, the Flak Kaserne (5282) was occupied to capacity. In the afternoon on 16 February, mubulance
In the afternoon on 11 February, a bout 10 trucks engaged in practice driving. Four or five antennas were seen in the east section of the instellation. On 11 and 16 February, the Flak Kaserne (5232) was occupied to capacity. In the afternoon on 16 February, ambulance left the installation through gate No 36 and headed toward the town. On 16, 19, 21, 22 and 23 February, the Seacht Kaserne (5237) was heavily occupied. On 26 February, 10 new three-axis trucks were parked at the installation. On 27 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne (5233) was very lightly occupied and, on 5 March, it was occupied to capacity. March, it was occupied to capacity. March, it was occupied to capacity. March in the Herrenkrug Kaserne was fully lighted at 6 p.m., while the troops moved in not until 6:45 p.m. Comment. Probably, shipments of engineer equipment Belong to the 36th Pon Bridge Regt of the GFG in the Seacht Kaserne. Comment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Aray and units of the 195th Gds Mecz Div Sig Regt of the array and the 62d and 63d Gds Mech Regts of the division, conducted increased training in the terrain outside the posts from mid-February up to early March. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Neath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Each Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Aray. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 Karch. To cannot yet be said whether those field exercises	comment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and units of the 195th das Mecz Div in the 36th Pon Bridge Regt of the Schwary and Large percentage of the twosps may have transferred to Letting—Heath for sombat firing practices. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mecz Div its selection, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mecz him training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mec him the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the operation of the 19th Gds Mecc Div is combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mech Biv has connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 3 and 9 Karch. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 3 and 9 Karch. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 3 and 9 Karch. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 3 and 9 Karch. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 3 and 9 Karch. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 3 and 9 Karch. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the exercises were loadings in the army area on 3 and 9 Karch. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the exercises by units of the 19th Cds Karch. Indications as to the exercises wer		3
Engaged in practice driving. Four or five antennas were seen in the east section of the installation. On 11 and 16 February, the Flak Kaserne (5232) was occupied to capacity. In the afternoon on 16 February, the Flak Kaserne (5232) was occupied to capacity. In the afternoon on 16 February, ambulance	engaged in practice driving. Four or five and the east section of the installation. On 11 and 16 February, the Flak Kaserne (5282) was occupied to capacity. In the afternoon on 16 February, the Flak Kaserne (5282) was occupied to capacity. In the afternoon on 16 February, subblance left the installation through gate No 36 and headed toward the bown. On 16, 19, 21, 22 and 23 February, the Nachrichton Kaserne was occupied to capacity. On 16, 21, 23 and 23 February, the Seacht Kaserne (5287) was heavily occupied. On 28 February, 10 new three-ade trucks were parked at the installation. In 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne (5283) was very lightly occupied and, on 5 farch, it was occupied to capacity. In the installations were fully lighted even though they were not occupied to capacity. In 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne was fully lighted at 6 p.m., while the troops moved in not until 6:45 p.m Comment. Probably, shipments of engineer equipment 22
Engaged in practice driving. Four or five antennas were seen in the east section of the installation. On 11 and 16 February, the Flak Kaserne (5232) was occupied to capacity. In the afternoon on 16 February, the Flak Kaserne (5232) was occupied to capacity. In the afternoon on 16 February, ambulance	engaged in practice driving. Four or five antennas were seen in the east section of the instellation. On 11 and 16 February, the Flak Kaserne (5282) was occupied to capacity. In the afternoon on 16 February, subblance left the instellation through gate No 36 and headed toward the bown. On 16, 19, 21, 22 and 23 February, the Nachrichton Kaserne was occupied to capacity. On 16, 19, 21, 23 and 23 February, the Seecht Kaserne (5287) was heavily occupied. On 28 February, 10 new three-axis trucks were parked at the installation. In 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne (5283) was very lightly occupied and, on 5 farch, it was occupied to capacity. In the unstallations were fully lighted even though they were not occupied to capacity. In 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne was fully lighted at 6 p.m., while the troops moved in not until 6:45 p.m * Comment. Probably, shipments of engineer equipment 22
Engaged in practice driving. Four or five antennas were seen in the east section of the installation. On 11 and 16 February, the Flak Kaserne (5232) was occupied to capacity. In the afternoon on 16 February, the Flak Kaserne (5232) was occupied to capacity. In the afternoon on 16 February, ambulance	engaged in practice driving. Four or five antennas were seen in the east section of the instellation. On 11 and 16 February, the Flak Kaserne (5282) was occupied to capacity. In the afternoon on 16 February, subblance left the instellation through gate No 36 and headed toward the bown. On 16, 19, 21, 22 and 23 February, the Nachrichton Kaserne was occupied to capacity. On 16, 19, 21, 23 and 23 February, the Seecht Kaserne (5287) was heavily occupied. On 28 February, 10 new three-axis trucks were parked at the installation. In 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne (5283) was very lightly occupied and, on 5 farch, it was occupied to capacity. In the unstallations were fully lighted even though they were not occupied to capacity. In 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne was fully lighted at 6 p.m., while the troops moved in not until 6:45 p.m * Comment. Probably, shipments of engineer equipment 22	•
Engaged in practice driving. Four or five antennas were seen in the east section of the installation. On 11 and 16 February, the Flak Kaserne (5232) was occupied to capacity. In the afternoon on 16 February, the Flak Kaserne (5232) was occupied to capacity. In the afternoon on 16 February, ambulance	engaged in practice driving. Four or five antennas were seen in the east section of the instellation. On 11 and 16 February, the Flak Kaserne (5282) was occupied to capacity. In the afternoon on 16 February, mbblance left the instellation through gate No 36 and headed toward the bown. On 16, 19, 21, 22 and 23 February, the Nachrichton Kaserne was occupied to capacity. On 16, 19, 21, 23 and 23 February, the Seacht Kaserne (5287) was heavily occupied. On 28 February, 10 new three-axis trucks were parked at the installation. In 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne (5283) was very lightly occupied and, on 5 farch, it was occupied to capacity. In the unstallations were fully lighted even though they were not occupied to capacity. In 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne was fully lighted at 6 p.m., while the troops moved in not until 6:45 p.m 22 Comment. Probably, shipments of engineer equipment 22 Comment. Probably, shipments of engineer equipment 22 Comment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and units of the 195th Gas Mecz Div included the 105th in 161 gRegt of the army and the 62d and 63d Gds Nech Regts of the division, conducted increased training in the terrain outside the pasts from mid-February up to early arch. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for bombat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Nech Div was commented with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 3 and 9 Karch.
engaged in practice driving. Four or five antennas were seen in the east section of the instellation. On 11 and 16 February, the Flak Kaserne (5232) was occupied to capacity. In the afternoon on 16 February, ambulance left the instellation through gate No 36 and headed toward the town. On 16, 21, 23 and 23 February, the Machrichten Kaserne was occupied to capacity. On 16, 21, 23 and 23 February, the Seecht Kaserne (5287) was heavily occupied. On 26 February, 10 new three-east trucks were perked at the instellation. On 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne (5233) was very lightly occupied and, on 5 March, it was occupied to capacity. On 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne was fully lighted at 6 p.m., while the troops moved in not until 6:45 p.m. Comment. Probably, shipments of engineer equipment belong to the 36th Pon Bridge Regt of the GCFG in the Seeckt Kaserne. Comment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and units of the 195th Gds Mecz Div included the 105th Sig Regt of the army and the 62d and 63d Gds Mech Regts of the division, conducted increased training in the terrain outside the posts from mid-February up to early March. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Meath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Nech Biv was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 Karch. To cannot be said whether those field exercises	engaged in practice driving. Four or five antennas were seen in the east section of the installation. On 11 and 16 February, the Flak Kaserne (5232) was occupied to capacity. In the afternoon on 16 February, ambulance left the installation through gate No 36 and headed toward the bown. On 16, 19, 21, 22 and 23 February, the Nachrichton Kaserne was occupied to capacity on 16, 21, 23 and 23 February, the Seacht Kaserne (5237) was heavily occupied. On 28 February, 10 new three—exile trucks were parked at the installation. In 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne (5233) was very lightly occupied and, on 5 farch, it was occupied to capacity. In the distallations were fully lighted even though they were not occupied to capacity. On 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne was fully lighted at 6 p.m., while the troops would in not until 6:45 p.m 2 Comment. Probably, shipments of engineer equipment belong to the 36th Fon Bridge Regt of the GCFG in the Seockt was first of the 195th Gds Mecz Div included the 105th capacity included the 105th capacity. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Neath for sombot firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Nech Div was comected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 3 and 9 Karch.				ity.
temmas were seen in the east section of the installation. On 11 and 16 February, the Flak Kaserne (5282) was occupied to capacity. In the afternoon on 16 February, ambulance left the installation through gate No 36 and headed toward the town. On 16, 19, 21, 22 and 23 February, the Nachrichten Kaserne was occupied to capacity. On 16, 21, 23 and 23 February, the Seccht Kaserne (5287) was heavily occupied. On 28 February, 10 new three-extle trucks were parked at the installation. On 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne (5283) was very lightly occupied and, on 5 March, it was occupied to capacity. March, it was occupied to capacity. the installations were fully lighted even though they were not occupied to capacity. On 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne was fully lighted at 6 p.m., while the troops moved in not until 6:45 p.m. Comment. Probably, shipments of engineer equipment belong to the 36th Fon Bridge Negt of the GGFG in the Seockt Kaserne. Comment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and units of the 195th Gds Mecz Div included the 105th Sig Regt of the army and the 62d and 63d Gds Mech Ragts of the division, conducted increased training in the terrain outside the posts from mid-February up to early March. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Nech Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 Karch. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 Karch.	the Flak Kaserne (5232) was occupied to capacity. In the afternoon on 16 February, the Flak Kaserne (5232) was occupied to capacity. In the afternoon on 16 February, unbulance left the installation through gate No 36 and headed toward the town. On 16, 19, 21, 22 and 23 February, the Nachrichten Kaserne was occupied to capacity. On 16, 21, 23 and 23 February, the Seccht Kaserne (5237) was heavily occupied. On 28 February, 10 new three-exist trucks were parked at the installation. On 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne (5233) was very lightly occupied and, on 5 farch, it was occupied to capacity. In the installations were fully lighted even though they were not occupied to capacity. In 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne was fully lighted at 6 p.m., while the troops moved in not until 6:45 p.m.? Comment. Probably, shipments of engineer equipment belong to the 36th Pon Bridge Regt of the GCFG in the Seockt maserne. Comment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and included the 105th lig Regt of the army and the 62d and 63d Gds Nech Regts of the division, conducted increased training in the terrain outside the posts from mid-February up to early arch. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Nech Div was commected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 3 and 9 karch. The cannot yet be said whether those field exercises	ln the aftern
the Flak Kaserne (5232) was occupied to capacity. In the afternoon on 16 February, ambulance left the installation through gate No 36 and headed toward the town. On 16, 19, 21, 22 and 23 February, the Nachrichten Kaserne was occupied to capacity. On 16, 19, 21, 23 and 23 February, the Seecht Kaserne (5287) was heavily occupied. On 28 February, 10 new three-exite trucks were parked at the installation. On 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne (5283) was very lightly occupied and, on 5 March, it was occupied to capacity. The installations were fully lighted even though they were not occupied to capacity. On 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne was fully lighted at 6 p.m., while the troops moved in not until 6:45 p.m. Comment. Probably, shipments of engineer equipment belong to the 36th Fon Bridge Regt of the GGFG in the Seeckt waserne. Comment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and units of the 195th Gds Mecz Div included the 105th Sig Regt of the army and the 62d and 63d Gds Mech Regts of the division, conducted increased training in the tervain outside the poets from mid-February up to early March. A large percentage of the twoops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mech Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 March. The cannot yet be said whether these field exercises	comment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and the feet of the army and the 50° the army and the 50° the army and the 50° the 195th Gds Mecz Div included the 105th appendix. It is believed that headquarters units of the training in the terrain outside the presence of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Reach for such a firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of the 195th Gds Mecz Div combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and included the 105th appearance of the army and the 62d and 63d Gds Mech Regts of the division, conducted increased training in the terrain outside the press from mid-February up to early sarch. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Reath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mech Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 3 and 9 Karch. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 3 and 9 Karch. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 3 and 9 Karch. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 3 and 9 Karch. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 3 and 9 Karch. Indications are selected the	• left the installation through gate No 36 and headed toward the town. On 16, 19, 21, 22 and 23 February, the Nachrichten Kaserne was occupied to capacity. On 16, 21, 23 and 23 February, the Seacht Kaserne (5287) was heavily occupied. On 28 February, 10 new three-exist trucks were parked at the installation. On 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne (5283) was very lightly occupied and, on 5 March, it was occupied to capacity. In the installations were fully lighted even though they were not occupied to capacity. On 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne was fully lighted at 6 p.m., while the troops moved in not until 6:45 p.m. Comment. Probably, shipments of engineer equipment belong to the 36th Pon Bridge Regt of the GCFG in the Seockt Maserne. Comment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Aray and units of the 195th Gds Mecz Div included the 105th Sig Regt of the army and the 62d and 63d Gds Mech Regts of the division, conducted increased training in the terrain outside the posts from mid-February up to early March. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mach Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 3 and 9 Earch. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 3 and 9 Earch. Indications as to	left the installation through gate No 36 and headed toward the bown. On 16, 19, 21, 22 and 23 February, the Nachrichten Kaserne was occupied to sepacity. On 16, 21, 23 and 23 February, the Seacht Kaserne (5287) was heavily recupied. On 28 February, 10 new three-exist trucks were parked at the installation. On 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne (5283) was very lightly occupied and, on 5 farch, it was occupied to capacity. Installations were fully lighted even though they were not occupied to capacity. Installations were fully lighted even though they were not occupied to capacity. In 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne was fully lighted at 6 p.m., while the troops moved in not until 6:45 p.m.? Comment. Probably, shipments of engineer equipment belong to the 36th Fon Bridge Regt of the GGFG in the Seacht mits of the 195th Gds Mecz Div included that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and mits of the army and the 62d and 63d Gds Nech Regts of the division, conducted increased training in the terrain outside the posts from ind-February up to early farch. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Each Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 3 and 9 Earch. To cannot yet be said whether these field exercises town. On 16, 19, 21, 22 and 23 February, the Machrichton Kaserne was occupied to capacity. On 16, 21, 23 and 23 February, the Seacht Kaserne (5287) was heavily occupied. On 28 February, 10 new three-axis trucks were parked at the installation. On 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne (5283) was very lightly occupied and, on 5 March, it was occupied to capacity. March, it was occupied to capacity. In the installations were fully lighted even though they were not occupied to capacity. On 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne was fully lighted at 6 p.m., while the troops moved in not until 6:45 p.m Comment. Probably, shipments of engineer equipment belong to the 36th Pon Bridge Regt of the GGFG in the Seeckt Kaserne. Comment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and units of the 195th Gds Mecz Div included the 105th Sig Regt of the army and the 62d and 63d Gds Mech Regts of the division, conducted increased training in the terrain outside the posts from mid-February up to early March. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mech Div was commected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 3 and 9 Earch. To cannot yet be said whether these field exercises	bown. On 16, 19, 21, 22 and 23 February, the Nachrichten Kaserne was occupied to expecity. On 16, 21, 23 and 23 February, the Seecht Kaserne (5287) was heavily occupied. On 28 February, 10 new three-sale trucks were parked at the installation. In 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne (5283) was very lightly occupied and, on 5 March, it was occupied to capacity. Installations were fully lighted even though they were not occupied to capacity. In 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne was fully lighted at 6 p.m., while the troops moved in not until 6:45 p.m. Comment. Probably, shipments of engineer equipment belong to the 36th Fon Bridge Regt of the GCFG in the Seeckt materials. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and included the 105th lig Regt of the army and the 62d and 63d Gds Mech Regts of the division, conducted increased training in the terrain outside the posts from mid-February up to early farch. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupied. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mach Div mas connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 March. Executive by the exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 March.
capacity. On 16, 21, 23 and 23 February, the Seacht Kaserne (5287) was heavily occupied. On 26 February, 10 new three-axis trucks were perked at the installation. On 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne (5233) was very lightly occupied and, on 5 March, it was occupied to capacity. Installations were fully lighted even though they were not occupied to capacity. On 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne was fully lighted at 6 p.m., while the troops moved in not until 6:45 p.m. Comment. Probably, shipments of engineer equipment belong to the 36th Fon Bridge Regt of the GCFG in the Seockt Kaserne. Comment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and units of the 195th Gds Mecz Div included the 105th Sig Regt of the army and the 62d and 63d Gds Mech Regts of the division, conducted increased training in the terrain outside the posts from mid-February up to early March. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mech Div Mas commerced with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 3 and 9 March. To cannot yet be said whether these field exercises	capacity. On 16, 21, 23 and 23 February, the Seacht Kaserne (5287) was heavily occupied. On 28 February, 10 new three-exte trucks were parked at the installation. On 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne (5283) was very lightly occupied and, on 5 arch, it was occupied to capacity. In the installations were fully lighted even though they were not occupied to capacity. In 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne was fully lighted at 6 p.m., while the troops moved in not until 6:45 p.m Comment. Probably, shipments of engineer equipment belong to the 36th Pon Bridge Regt of the GCFG in the Seockt waserne. Comment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and mits of the 195th Gds Mecz Div included the 105th was a line of the army and the 62d and 63d Gds Mech Regts of the division, conducted increased training in the tervain outside the posts from mid-February up to early warch. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Reath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Each Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 3 and 9 Earch. It cannot yet be said whether those field exercises occupied. On 28 February, 10 new three-axle trucks were parked at the installation. On 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne (5233) was very lightly occupied and, on 5 March, it was occupied to capacity. Installations were fully lighted even though they were not occupied to capacity. On 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne was fully lighted at 6 p.m., while the troops moved in not until 6:45 p.m.? Comment. Probably, shipments of engineer equipment belong to the 36th Pon Bridge Regt of the GCFG in the Seeckt Kaserne. Comment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and units of the 195th Gds Mecz Div included the 105th Sig Regt of the army and the 62d and 63d Gds Mech Regts of the division, conducted increased training in the terrain outside the posts from mid-February up to early March. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mach Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 Karch.	coupled, On 28 February, 10 new three-axle trucks were parked at the installation. In 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne (5233) was very lightly occupied and, on 5 March, it was occupied to capacity. Installations were fully lighted even though they were not occupied to capacity. In 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne was fully lighted at 6 p.m., while the troops moved in not until 6:45 p.m.? Comment. Probably, shipments of engineer equipment belong to the 36th Pon Bridge Regt of the GCFG in the Seockt waserne. Comment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and mits of the 195th Gds Mecz Div included the 105th Gig Regt of the army and the 62d and 63d Gds Mech Regts of the division, conducted increased training in the terrain outside the posts from mid-February up to early larch. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gde Nach Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 March. To cannot yet be said whether these field exercises
On 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne (5283) was very lightly occupied and, on 5 March, it was occupied to capacity. Instellations were fully lighted even though they were not occupied to capacity. On 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne was fully lighted at 6 p.m., while the troops moved in not until 6:45 p.m.? Comment. Probably, shipments of engineer equipment belong to the 36th Pon Bridge Regt of the GCFG in the Seockt Maserne. Comment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and units of the 195th Gds Mecz Div Sig Regt of the army and the 62d and 63d Gds Mech Regts of the division, conducted increased training in the terrain outside the posts from mid-February up to early March. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Reath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Nach Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 March. It cannot yet be said whether those field exercises	on 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne (5283) was very lightly occupied and, on 5 farch, it was occupied to capacity. Installations were fully lighted even though they were not occupied to capacity. In 22 February, the Herrenkrug Kaserne was fully lighted at 6 p.m., while the troops moved in not until 6:45 p.m. Comment. Probably, shipments of engineer equipment belong to the 36th Pon Bridge Regt of the GCFG in the Seockt Comment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and units of the 195th Gds Mecz Div included the 105th dig Regt of the army and the 62d and 63d Gds Mech Regts of the division, conducted increased training in the terrain outside the posts from mid-February up to early barch. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Nech Div connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 3 and 9 Karch. It cannot yet be said whether these field exercises
March, it was occupied to capacity. Installations were fully lighted even though they were not occupied to capacity. On 22 February, the Herrendrug Kaserne was fully lighted at 6 p.m., while the troops moved in not until 6:45 p.m Comment. Probably, shipments of engineer equipment belong to the 36th Pon Bridge Regt of the GCFG in the Seockt Maserne. Comment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and units of the 195th Gds Mecz Div Sig Regt of the army and the 62d and 63d Gds Mech Regts of the division, conducted increased training in the terrain outside the posts from mid-February up to early March. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mech Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 3 and 9 March. It cannot yet be said whether those field exercises	comment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and increased training in the terrain outside the pects from mid-February up to early barch. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes not be commented with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Heath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes not be exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 Earch. Find the exercises
On 22 February, the Herrenkrig Kaserne was fully lighted at 6 p.m., while the troops moved in not until 6:45 p.m. Comment. Probably, shipments of engineer equipment belong to the 36th Pon Bridge Regt of the GCFG in the Seeckt beaserne. Comment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and units of the 195th Gds Mecz Div included the 105th Sig Regt of the army and the 62d and 63d Gds Mech Regts of the division, conducted increased training in the terrain outside the posts from mid-February up to early March. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mach Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 Farch. To cannot yet be said whether these field exercises	on 22 February, the Herrenkryg Kaserne was fully lighted at 6 p.m., while the troops moved in not until 6:45 p.m. Comment. Probably, shipments of engineer equipment belong to the 36th Pon Bridge Regt of the GGFG in the Seeckt asserne. Comment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and included the 105th included the 105th included the 105th included the 105th increased training in the terrain outside the posts from mid-February up to early barch. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Reath for combut firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Nech Div as connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 3 and 9 March. It cannot yet be said whether these field exercises				-
Comment. Probably, shipments of engineer equipment belong to the 36th Pon Bridge Regt of the GCFG in the Seeckt Comment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and units of the 195th Gds Mecz Div included the 105th Sig Regt of the army and the 62d and 63d Gds Mech Regts of the division, conducted increased training in the terrain outside the posts from mid-February up to early March. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mach Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 March. To cannot yet be said whether these field exercises	Comment. Probably, shipments of engineer equipment belong to the 36th Pon Bridge Regt of the GGFG in the Seeckt caserne. Comment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and mits of the 195th Gds Mecz Div included the 105th increased training in the terrain outside the posts from mid-February up to early farch. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Nech Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 March. It cannot yet be said whether these field exercises	installations	were fully lighted even though	they were not occupied to capac	ity.
Comment. Probably, shipments of engineer equipment belong to the 36th Pon Bridge Regt of the GCFG in the Seeckt Maserne. Comment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and units of the 195th Gds Mecz Div included the 105th Sig Regt of the army and the 62d and 63d Gds Mech Regts of the division, conducted increased training in the terrain outside the posts from mid-February up to early March. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mech Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 March. It cannot yet be said whether these field exercises	Comment. Probably, shipments of engineer equipment belong to the 36th Pon Bridge Regt of the GCFG in the Seeckt asserne. Comment, It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and mits of the 195th Gds Mecz Div included the 105th ig Regt of the army and the 62d and 63d Gds Mech Regts of the division, conducted increased training in the terrain outside the posts from mid-February up to early farch. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Neath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Nach Div mas connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 March. It cannot yet be said whether these field exercises	On 22 Februar	y, the Herrenkryg Kaserne was fu	lly lighted at 6 p.m., while the	treeps
Comment. Probably, shipments of engineer equipment belong to the 36th Pon Bridge Regt of the GGG in the Seeckt Kaserne. Comment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and units of the 195th Gds Mecz Div included the 105th Sig Regt of the army and the 62d and 63d Gds Mech Regts of the division, conducted increased training in the terrain outside the posts from mid-February up to early March. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mach Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 March. To cannot yet be said whether those field exercises	Comment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and included the 105th dig Regt of the army and the 62d and 63d Gds Mech Regts of the division, conducted increased training in the terrain outside the posts from mid-February up to early larch. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mach Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 March.	moved in not	until 6:45 p.m.
Comment. Probably, shipments of engineer equipment belong to the 36th Pon Bridge Regt of the GGG in the Seeckt Kaserne. Comment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and units of the 195th Gds Mecz Div included the 105th Sig Regt of the army and the 62d and 63d Gds Mech Regts of the division, conducted increased training in the terrain outside the posts from mid-February up to early March. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mach Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 March. To cannot yet be said whether those field exercises	Comment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and included the 105th dig Regt of the army and the 62d and 63d Gds Mech Regts of the division, conducted increased training in the terrain outside the posts from mid-February up to early larch. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mach Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 March. It cannot yet be said whether these field exercises
Gomment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and units of the 195th Gds Mecz Div included the 105th Sig Regt of the army and the 62d and 63d Gds Mech Regts of the division, conducted increased training in the terrain outside the posts from mid-February up to early March. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mach Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 March. It cannot yet be said whether those field exercises	Comment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and mits of the 195th Gds Mecz Div included the 105th Gig Regt of the army and the 62d and 63d Gds Mech Regts of the division, conducted increased training in the terrain outside the posts from mid-February up to early farch. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Each Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 Earch. To cannot yet be said whether these field exercises			& . is	2
Comment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and units of the 195th Cds Mecz Div	Comment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and mits of the 195th Gds Mecz Div included the 105th Gds Regt of the army and the 62d and 63d Gds Mech Regts of the division, conducted increased training in the terrain outside the posts from mid-February up to early farch. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Nach Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 Earch.	Comment			2
Comment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and units of the 195th Gds Mecz Div	Comment. It is believed that headquarters units of the Third Shock Army and mits of the 195th Gds Mecz Div included the 105th increased training in the terrain outside the posts from mid-February up to early farch. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mach Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 March.	V	belong to the 36th Pon Bi	ricge Regt of the GUFG in the Se included the 105th Gds Mecz Div included the 105th Sig Regt of the army and the 62d and 63d Gds Mech Regts of the division, conducted increased training in the terrain outside the posts from mid-February up to early March. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mech Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 March. It cannot yet be said whether these field exercises	included the 105th army and the 62d and 63d Gds Mech Regts of the division, conducted increased training in the terrain outside the posts from mid-February up to early farch. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mach Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 March. It cannot yet be said whether these field exercises	arserne,			. 2
included the 105th Gds Mecz Div included the 105th Sig Regt of the army and the 62d and 63d Gds Mech Regts of the division, conducted increased training in the terrain outside the posts from mid-February up to early March. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mech Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 March. It cannot yet be said whether these field exercises	included the 105th army and the 62d and 63d Gds Mech Regts of the division, conducted increased training in the terrain outside the posts from mid-February up to early farch. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Meath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mech Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 March. It cannot yet be said whether these field exercises	Commant	It is haliowed that bandousn't	the mades of the Thind Check Assure	กรณ์
Sig Regt of the army and the 62d and 63d Gds Mech Regts of the division, conducted increased training in the terrain outside the posts from mid-February up to early March. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mach Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 March. To cannot yet be said whether these field exercises	ig Regt of the army and the 62d and 63d Gds Mech Regts of the division, conducted increased training in the terrain outside the posts from mid-February up to early farch. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mech Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 March.
Increased training in the terrain outside the posts from mid-February up to early March. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mach Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 March. To cannot yet be said whether these field exercises	A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Nach Divers connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 March. It cannot yet be said whether these field exercises
March. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mach Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 March. To cannot yet be said whether those field exercises	Arch. A large percentage of the troops may have transferred to Letzling-Heath for combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mach Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 March. It cannot yet be said whether these field exercises combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mach Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 March. It cannot yet be said whether those field exercises	combat firing practice. Except for fluctuations regarding the strength of troops at the installation, which resulted from training activity outside the post, no changes in the occupation are discernible. Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mach Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 March. It cannot yet be said whether these field exercises
Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mach Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 March.	Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Nach Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 March.
Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Mach Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 March.	Comment. It is believed that the departure of units of the 19th Gds Nach Div was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 March.			g activity outside the post, no	changes was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 Karch. In the exercises are to the said whether those field exercises	as connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 3 and 9 Karch. This is a second of the connected whether these field exercises	in the occupa	tion are discernible.	·
was connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 Karch. In the exercises are to the said whether those field exercises	as connected with exercises by units of the Third Shock Army. Indications as to the exercises were loadings in the army area on 3 and 9 Karch. This is a second of the connected whether these field exercises	- the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 Karch. From the second of the	the exercises were loadings in the army area on 8 and 9 Karch. From the second of the
. It cannot yet be said whether these field exercises	. It cannot yet be said whether these field exercises				TO
		ene exercises
	ers conducted in the area of Metzling heath,	tono conducto		pard anerget fuere fletd exect;	162

SECREA